

Basis Points | July 8, 2025

Still Standing

1. Beating the Odds

US financial markets emerged from the first half of 2025 not just unshaken but surprisingly strong – defying a barrage of risks that could have easily derailed them. New tariffs came in considerably higher than expected, but their impact so far has seemed surprisingly limited. War in the Middle East – including direct US involvement – raised geopolitical and oil-price risks to the outlook but stabilized faster than feared. Meanwhile, tax and debt-ceiling legislation looked far from guaranteed given razor-thin margins in the House and Senate yet cleared Congress with relative ease. On top of all this, inflation and interest rates remained elevated, and pockets of the economy showed more signs of fatigue. As the first half fades into the rearview, this laundry list of risks and challenges has not been enough to hold back US equities and the economy: the S&P 500 just crossed all-time highs, corporate earnings are projected to rise further, and unemployment is still very low.

2. Cautious Optimism

This outperformance is a sign of resilience, but will markets continue to withstand and bounce back from adversity? For the last several quarters, US equities trounced bearish forecasts not just because the macro environment proved more than manageable, but also because corporate earnings powered on and margins continued to expand. Today, many analysts view policy uncertainty, steep tariffs, and elevated interest rates as factors that weigh on business and economic activity. Policy uncertainty might delay business decisions in the near-term, but in our view these challenges may prove short-lived if government policy crystallizes and corporations adjust to the new rules of the road.

3. Eyes on Earnings

Corporate earnings growth is projected to slow markedly in the upcoming earnings season, with analysts penciling in 5% growth in Q2 from the stronger-than-expected 13% in Q1. As company results come in, we will pay attention not only to the earnings figures but also to management commentary, where we hope to get color on how companies are thinking about the medium-to-longer term outlook, particularly how they intend to balance higher costs, profit margins, capital expenditures and employment. Our 12-month ahead price target for the S&P 500 remains 6,400, or about +3% from today's level.

4. Monetary Policy Uncertainty

For several quarters, markets have waited for the Federal Reserve to cut interest rates, leading to easier financial conditions that supported equities. But inflation is still well above the Fed's 2% target, and policymakers actually expect the inflation rate to rise, not fall, from here. Employment is softening around the edges, which aids the case for rate cuts, but it's hard to look past a 4.1% national unemployment rate, the lowest in months. Although tariffs

CONTACT

Blake Taylor | VP, Market and Economic Research Analyst

blake.taylor@firstcitizens.com
919-716-7964

Phillip Neuhart | SVP, Director of Market and Economic Research

phillip.neuhart@firstcitizens.com
919-716-2403

Brent Ciliano, CFA | SVP, Chief Investment Officer

brent.ciliano@firstcitizens.com
919-716-2650

act as a new corporate tax (to the tune of around $25 billion a month so far), the One Big Beautiful Bill Act will deliver substantial fiscal stimulus in the near term, which could make the need for rate cuts less apparent. Markets currently see two rate cuts this year and five by the end of 2026. But unless inflation subsides or economic conditions weaken materially, we are not so sure the Federal Reserve will deliver so much monetary easing.

Sign up to receive regular market & economic updates straight to your inbox.

FIRSTCITIZENS.COM/WEALTH

The views expressed are those of the author(s) at the time of writing and are subject to change without notice. First Citizens does not assume any liability for losses that may result from the information in this piece.

This material is for informational purposes only and is not intended to be an offer, specific investment strategy, recommendation, or solicitation to purchase or sell any security or insurance product, and should not be construed as legal, tax or accounting advice. Please consult with your legal or tax advisor regarding the particular facts and circumstances of your situation prior to making any financial decision. While we believe that the information presented is from reliable sources, we do not represent, warrant, or guarantee that it is accurate or complete.

Your investments in securities and insurance products and services are not insured by the FDIC or any other federal government agency and may lose value. They are not deposits or other obligations of, or guaranteed by any bank or bank affiliate and are subject to investment risks, including possible loss of the principal amounts invested.

About the Entities, Brands and Services Offered

First Citizens Wealth™ (FCW) is a marketing brand of First Citizens BancShares, Inc., a bank holding company. The following affiliates of First Citizens BancShares are the entities through which FCW products are offered. Brokerage products and services are offered through First Citizens Investor Services, Inc. ("FCIS"), a registered broker-dealer, Member FINRA and SIPC. Advisory services are offered through FCIS, First Citizens Asset Management, Inc. and SVB Wealth LLC, all SEC registered investment advisers. Certain brokerage and advisory products and services may not be available from all Investment Professionals. Insurance products and insurance are offered through FCIS, a licensed insurance agency. Banking, lending, trust products and services, and certain insurance products and services are offered by First-Citizens Bank & Trust Company, Member FDIC, and an Equal Housing Lender and SVB, a division of First-Citizens Bank & Trust Company.

For more information about FCIS, FCAM or SVBW and its Investment Professionals click here: <https://www.firstcitizens.com/wealth/disclosures>

©2025 First-Citizens Bank & Trust Company. All rights reserved. Silicon Valley Bank, a division of First-Citizens Bank & Trust Company. Member FDIC., First Citizens Wealth is a trademark of First Citizens BancShares, Inc.